

Writer, Cate O'Malley

Cate lives in a very harmonious world of food and writing. As the chief editor of the Well Fed Network, a creative collage of foodie blogs, and Sweetnicks, she contributes food news, recipes, reviews, and ideas throughout each week.

"For as long as I can remember, I have loved writing and yearned to be a freelance journalist when I grew up. When I moved out on my own for the first time, I discovered a second passion … cooking. Now, many years later, I still have a love for both and started my site, Sweetnicks, in an effort to combine them. I have a slight, ahem, obsession with cookbooks, food/cooking magazines, and, well, anything related to food. Joining the food blogging community, … it’s great to be among others who get the obsession.”