

Dining Out Food Allergen-Free in NYC with Worry-Free Dinners™

Allergic Girl, the blogging beacon for eating out with severe food allergies, has started a new program to help other food allergy sufferers enjoy restaurants. Her new concept, Worry-Free Dinners™, is a membership organization with the goal to provide fun and "worry-free" dining experiences for those who have manageable food allergies and food intolerances. The Worry-Free Dinners community is based around social and educational dining events that are held at restaurants in and around New York City. By contracting with understanding, sympathetic and welcoming restaurants to host these dinners, she strives to create a friendly place to eat safely, connect with like-minded diners and learn how to replicate the experience ...

Members will have an opportunity to:

Receive coaching and practice how to talk with restaurant owners, managers and chefs.

Network, connect, and build relationships with others who have food allergies/intolerances.

Experience a new restaurant with a prix fixe meal that will be worry-free.

Membership is free and there is no obligation. Just email worryfreedinner@gmail.com to receive an application or if you have any questions. All information is kept strictly confidential. (If you are applying for a person under 18 years of age, please let them know).

The first Worry-Free Dinner is scheduled for April 1st. Visit the Worry-Free Dinners™ blog for more information. Article by Alisa Fleming, Founder and Editor of www.GoDairyFree.org. Feel free to email the author with questions and comments.
