

Halloween Sweets are about More than Just Candy ... Even with Food Allergies

Last week I wrote about some brand new chocolates and treats for dairy-free and food allergic consumers, adding to last year's list of Halloween treat ideas. However, I would be doing you an injustice if I didn't mention a couple of baked goodie Halloween-only specials that I have stumbled upon. HomeFree (formerly Gak's Snacks), is offering a Halloween special (detailed below), which includes some free yummy cookies. If cupcakes are more your style, Divvies has their special "Halloween" cupcakes, consisting of a white or chocolate cake base with orange frosting (you can also get their special Halloween Jelly Beans for decorating). Both HomeFree and Divvies ship their products across the U.S. (yes, front door cupcake delivery!), and both companies run egg-, dairy-, peanut-, and tree nut-free facilities. Now for the free cookie offer ...

HomeFree Treats Free Cookies Offer: With every web order at www.homefreetreats.com through Sunday, October 26th, HomeFree will include 3 individually wrapped cookies (one of each flavor) as a special treat for your child's goodie bag. No coupon necessary! (If your child can eat only certain flavors, mention that in a "note" in your order.) If you shop for HomeFree cookies at stores, just mail an October receipt and your address by the 24th (to P.O. Box 491, Windham, NH 03087-0491), and HomeFree will still send you Halloween cookies!
