

New Vegan Candy Bars Hit the Ground Running with Rave Reviews and a Giveaway

Dairy-free living just keeps getting better and better. The list of new products continues to grow, and the latest addition really takes the cake … or should I say, candy bar? Go Max Go, a genius little food company, has created four candy bars that will make you forget about those processed corner store selections. Their selection includes the following: Mahalo! (like an Almond Joy), Twilight (like a Milky Way), Jokerz (like a Snickers), and Buccaneer (like a 3 Musketeers).

But rather than simply imitating, each of these delicious indulgences contains only natural ingredients (nothing artificial, no hydrogenated oils, no high fructose corn syrup), and to top it off, they are completely vegan! Yes, caramel and “milk” chocolate without dairy and nougat sans eggs. Seriously, I never thought I would see the day, but here it is. Of course, a new product announcement like this one wouldn't be complete on Go Dairy Free without a thorough review and a giveaway! ...

To taste what all the buzz was about, I gathered three taste-testers, myself (strictly dairy-free), Anthony (also dairy-free, but for general health), and Stacy (not dairy-free or vegan, our most impartial judge). We sampled each of the bars, you can read our tasting notes in the full Go Max Go review. Additional reviews have also been posted on Vegan Essentials.

Of course, there is no better judge than you, so Go Max Go is giving you the chance to win their candy bars. In combination with Go Dairy Free and One Frugal Foodie, they are offering a set of their full-size candy bars to five winners. To enter, simply head over to the giveaway post on One Frugal Foodie to leave a comment. See the entry rules to gain additional entries.